

Unusually diverse in-house opportunity offering senior management and international exposure
c. 4 – 5 years' PQE, London

The Macsteel International Group is a vast international business with trading and shipping offices throughout the world and an annual turnover in excess of US$4billion. The business' main activities are international trading in carbon steel products and iron ore and shipping and associated operations.

Due to the continued success of the business, an exciting opportunity has arisen for an additional lawyer to join the London office which has recently moved into new West End premises. Reporting to the Group Legal Adviser, you will work closely with the senior managers of all of the Macsteel International entities across a number of different locations globally. You can expect lots of responsibility and an unusually varied and interesting workload, which will require you to travel. Whilst your core responsibilities will focus on corporate, commercial, litigation, shipping and banking matters, this is an extremely diverse role and you could equally be called upon to assist on other areas such as property or employment law.

The position would suit someone who has spent some time in a leading law firm and also, ideally, in-house or on secondment. Practical knowledge of at least one or more of the relevant areas of legal expertise is necessary, essentially corporate, commercial, litigation, shipping or banking. International experience will also be a major plus. As this role will involve substantial exposure to senior management, including the Executive Chairman who is also based in London, the successful candidate will need to be confident, credible and robust. Commercial acumen and the ability to project manage and facilitate deals will be key to your success.

This is an exciting opportunity to join a very successful and dynamic international business advising a highly experienced senior management team. You will be rewarded with a competitive salary and benefits package and the chance to make your mark within a unique organisation.
