

■ SENIOR IP LAWYER

Element Six is a global leader in the design, development and production of synthetic diamond supermaterials for use in industrial applications. The business is a member of the De Beers Group of Companies, which in August 2012 became 85% owned by Anglo American plc, one of the world's largest diversified mining and natural resource groups.

Element Six's products are used across a wide range of industries including automotive, aerospace, oil & gas drilling, mining, construction and electronics. It operates globally with primary manufacturing sites in China, Germany, Ireland, Sweden, South Africa and the UK. Element Six's mission is to deliver extreme performance for end users through innovative diamond solutions. It has extensive research activities dedicated to this aim, and will open a brand new Global Innovation Centre in South Oxfordshire later this year. Protecting the fruits of its research through IP, and exploiting IP in business negotiations is critical to the company's success. For more information on Element Six visit: www.e6.com

Element Six is looking to recruit a senior IP lawyer to its Group Services Centre based in west London. Optionally the position could be located at the new Oxfordshire Innovation Centre. Reporting to the Head of Group IP, whilst maintaining a link to the Group Legal function, you will take on full responsibility for all IP-related contractual matters for the Element Six Group worldwide.

London or Oxfordshire

This is an international, business facing role which will include:

- Drafting, reviewing and negotiating a wide variety of IP-related agreements including research contracts with universities, consortium agreements, e.g. Framework 7 and DARPA contracts, joint R&D collaborations with key customers, licences, IP aspects of M&A projects, and NDAs;
- Advising Business and R&D Managers on IP agreement issues, and pro-actively providing business-focused, pragmatic recommendations;
- Managing the IP Agreements function within the Group IP team;
- Liaising with and managing external advisors in diverse jurisdictions.

To take on this challenging role, you will be an IP lawyer with 6+ years' PQE* gained from a well-respected global organisation or law firm. Technically strong, you will be a self-starter who is able to work both autonomously and as part of a team. You will possess solid interpersonal, communication and influencing skills and will be required to build effective relationships quickly in order become a trusted, strategic partner to the business.

This really is a fantastic opportunity to join a successful, dynamic and innovative organisation. A competitive salary and benefits package will be offered to the successful candidate.
